

GFC Welcomes New Students

A five-day orientation program, including a President's Reception, trip to the coast, and "Invasion," welcomed the new students to the GFC campus.

The new freshmen were officially received into the Student Body last Sunday in a Convocation service at Newberg High School. The class, largest in the history of the college, represents 17 states and five foreign countries.

Among the planned pre-class activities for the novices, including transfers, were small group orientation sessions, tests, parties, and special events. Saturday's semi-formal President's Dinner and Sunday's salmon bake on the beach highlighted the week's activities.

Following an afternoon of registering, Monday, the students visited the homes of faculty and staff in an "Invasion."

Freshmen wore onions and rode stick horses as a part of the three-day initiation process, concluding with the Saturday night showing of "Wait Until Dark."

LINING UP TO PAY UP, freshmen invade Woodmar halls to pay a visit to the Bursar.

On the Beginning of College

Soon I will leave for what is seemingly another world, so far away from anything that I have ever known. I face this with sadness when I realize that I am leaving the people and places with whom so many wonderful memories have been created. Many of them I may never see again. And yet ahead lies a great challenge which must be met, so that our future may be as happy and as meaningful as possible. I want to accomplish so much. But, I don't know where to begin. That is why I hope that this is the beginning. Where it leads I know not for certain. But I do know that I must follow this path wherever it leads, for I believe it can lead to the fulfillment of my goals. I only hope that I can find the strength within myself to follow this journey with wisdom that I have never known before, with discipline enough to accomplish what I dream, and yet with humbleness enough to always be sincerely thankful for what has been granted in my accomplishments. And may my accomplishments always be used in a way that will help mankind and not harm it. These things I hope and more. And that is why I take this step into what may be and can be the beginning. I cannot fail.

Library Grant Awarded

George Fox College is one of nine colleges and universities in Oregon to benefit from a $225,000 special purpose library grant awarded to 20 Pacific Northwest schools.

The federal grant is from the Office of Education of the Department of Health Education and Welfare. It is one of only 22 awarded nationally this year.

Funds will be used for cooperative effort in library acquisitions by participating institutions in the Northwest Association of Private Colleges and Universities (NAPCU).

"The funds offer opportunity for a concerted development of a regional collection of library holdings available to more than 28,000 students enrolled at the participating institutions," according to Dr. John Phillips, chairman of the NAPCU board of trustees.

"This will make possible a far broader selection of research and instructional material than any of the privately supported colleges can afford individually," he said.

Phillips said regional cooperation by librarians in the expenditure of the funds will help to reduce unnecessary duplication and will make increased resources available for inter-library use.

George Fox will benefit immediately from 2 $5,000 grant of a $100,000 portion of the award to be divided among the participating schools. Dean of Administration Frank Cole said the funds will purchase more books and library materials.

Use and distribution of the remaining $125,000 of the total award has not yet been decided, he said.

Oregon schools included in NAPCU addition to George Fox are Lewis and Clark College, Marylhurst College, Mt. Angel College, Pacific University, Reed College, University of Portland and Willamette University.

Formed in 1967 to develop cooperative programs, the association has members in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Utah.

Fox Faculty Filled

Three new full-time faculty members will be added to the faculty this fall, three professors now on leave will return and four part-time professors will be added, according to Dean of Faculty ARTHUR ROBERTS.

RICHARD ALLEN, a teacher and coach at Salem Academy for the last seven years, will teach in the PE department and serve as assistant basketball coach and head track coach. Allen has a Masters degree from the University of Oregon and taught in the Seattle public school system for two years before moving to Salem.

BERTON LAMB, who received a Masters degree in International Relations from San Francisco State College in August, joins the faculty as instructor in political science. Lamb was a resident assistant in 1966-67 at California Lutheran College where he earned his Bachelors degree.

HAROLD WILHITE, since 1961 a teacher of mathematics and bookkeeping at Neah-Kah-Nie High School in Rockaway, will become assistant Professor of Business. Wilhite, who taught at GF in 1960-61, is a certified public accountant with 25 years of public school teaching experience. He received a Masters degree in Business Administration from Portland State University this summer.

Returning to the college are DR. GEORGE MOORE, former Dean of Faculty; DENNIS HAGEN, Assistant Professor of Music; and DALE ORKNEY,

Assistant Professor of Biology. DR. MOORE has been on a one year sabbatical as visiting professor in general psychology at Malone College. Moore earlier announced his retirement from administrative duties. He will be teaching in the psychology department.

DENNIS HAGEN, for the past year, has been studying for a doctorate in Music Education at the University of Indiana. He joined the faculty in 1964.

PROF. ORKNEY, awarded a National Science Foundation Science Faculty Grant in 1968, has been working on a doctorate at the University of Idaho. He has been a faculty member since 1963.

The four new part-time personnel will be teaching in conjunction with Warner Pacific College. DOUGLAS HAMILTON, at Warner Pacific as instructor in speech and English since 1966, will assist in the drama department. CHARLES NIELSEN will be teaching in the sociology department. He has been at Warner since 1966. LLOYD WHELCHER, assistant professor of Sociology and History at Warner, will teach anthropology courses at GF. New to both campuses will be HAROLD ELKINTON, who retired from Linfield College this spring after 41 years as chairman of the business administration department. He will be teaching business and economics courses.

Student Senate Starts

A new form of student government begins this month as classes resume for a new academic year. Following a successful campaign by incoming student body president Marshall Sperling, a Boise, Idaho senior, the students adopted a student assembly plan. Initiation of the new representative form of government means the end of the general meetings of the entire student body held throughout most of the school's 78-year history.

Under the new plan the senate is composed of 20 senators: the four class presidents and four representatives from each class who are elected for one term periods. The student body president will preside over the senate which meets twice monthly during student chapel periods. The senate will handle business formerly left to the student body and will add the duties formerly under the jurisdiction of the Campus Relations Committee. It will serve as a hearing committee for student complaints and suggestions and as a decision-making committee dealing with disciplinary problems directed to it by the Dean of Student Affairs.

In approving the new government plan, students said general student body meetings had become too large and cumbersome and were little more than a rubber-stamp for the student council. Sperling said the new senate "should up-grade the level of participation in student government and give the student body a stronger voice in discipline and self-control."

Kappa Tau Success

A "Kappa Tau Catastrophe," planned by Bev Carey and sponsored by Kappa Tau Epsilon started the "total involvement movement" of Kappa Tau this year. The party, a complete success, entertained the women Frosh for an hour and a half with talks by our advisor, Mrs. Le Shana, and the club officers, and with a series of games culminating with refreshments.

movement" of Kappa Tau is an effort to get all women interested and participating in Kappa Tau. Exciting projects such as the Halloween "Spook-enanny" cosponsored by Circle K and Kappa Tau and the combination Christmas Tea and Formal Fashion Show are just some of the events planned. We are looking forward to enthusiasm and a terrific, fun-filled Initiated?

Well, it's over now. Freshmen have banged their hands and knees crawling around the dining hall for the last time this year. By now all snarls and tangles should be out of braided, sprayed hair—it was only for overnight. The last uncooperative frosh has been pursued with simulated National Guard riot squad tactics and crowned with those delectable pies. The last bits of limburger cheese specialties, treats that would send the uncourageous among us running for the nearest receptacle, have been nibbled and somehow digested by this time. The roads going up Chehalem are well worn from this initiation. Being tied and stuffed with hay wasn't all that uncomfortable; spectators readily admitted it! Anyway, it was only for a little while . . . Yes, that week is past. The freshmen are initiated. They are now prepared to participate completely as members in this Christian college. (L.P.)

Viet Nam Volunteers

Dorlan and Eunice Bales have begun a honeymoon of "two delightful years in beautiful Vietnam."

Dorlan Bales, 1968-69 G.F.C. student body president, and his wife Eunice were married in June. They left Sept. 17 for the war-torn Asian nation.

Although probably exempt from the draft if he continued his ministerial studies in graduate school or entered full-time ministry, Bales is voluntarily going to Vietnam as a conscientious objector.

Why would anyone choose Vietnam? "Because there's a need and it's a CO's responsibility to go where needed," Bales says. "It's a chance to do something positive for Jesus Christ," he adds.

Bales, who compiled a perfect 4.00 grade point average through four years at George Fox, is from Kelso, Wash. His wife, also an honors student, is from Spokane. Both graduated last spring.

The Bales lived in Salem and assisted in church work at the Pringle Friends Church while making preparations for their trip.

The World Relief Commission of the National Association of Evangelicals, under which Bales will be working, began its South Vietnam work in 1967 and now has 20 persons in the country with a staff of 45, mostly Vietnamese helpers. The organization assists in public health and social welfare, education and community development, including construction of new schools and hospitals.

Bales, who will be sponsored for the 24-month selective service stint by the Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends Church, will assist in rehabilitation work involving food and clothing distribution for refugees and in a re-training program. His wife will be doing secretarial work for World Relief.

Bales and his wife will be the fifth and sixth George Fox students to volunteer for civilian service in Vietnam since 1965. A trio of graduates was the first to volunteer. Two of them returned to the United States last year and a third, Jerry Sandoz, of Newberg, has volunteered for another term in Korea.

A 1968 graduate, Gary Black of Haviland, Kansas, left for South Vietnam last summer.

Also leaving with the latest volunteers was another Quaker couple, Robert and Malinda Newell of Hillsboro. Newell, a 1969 Harvard graduate will manage a 120-bed hospital being turned over to World Relief by Marines who help construct it in their off-duty hours.

The Bales, Newells and five other volunteers from throughout the United States met on the George Fox Campus Sept. 15 and 16 for a briefing session under World Relief. Directing the session was Dick Pendell, director of the World Relief Vietnam program and Dr. Everett Gorffam, executive vice president of World Relief.

The group left from Seattle Sept. 17, spent two days in Hong Kong and arrived in Saigon Sept. 20 for assignment.

Miss America living doll

By ARTHUR HOPPE
 San Francisco Chronicle

The fiasco that almost destroyed the Miss America Pageant can now be revealed.

The Pageant had proceeded with its customary smoothness. The beautiful, tanned (but not too tanned), blonde (but not too blonde) candidates had paraded in their swim suits and tapped their tap dances.

The judges, after an agonizing deliberation over who would pick the winner's name out of the hat, had finally chosen Miss Sharon Anne Wasp of Muncie, Mich., who was beautiful, tanned and blonde.

Some confusion developed when it turned out Miss Wasp had lost her ribbon saying, "Miss Michigan," and thus could not be distinguished from other candidates. But she was quickly identified by elimination and cried real tears.

The fiasco occurred at the press conference which followed. It was caused by one Mario Rubin, a reporter for the Underground Press Service, who had somehow gained admittance.

The press conference began in traditional fashion with the new Miss American saying how glad she was she didn't smoke, drink, date, perspire or eat onions.

"I guess that sure restores everybody's faith in America," said the Master of Ceremonies, leading a round of applause.

"What do you think of American men?" asked a reporter, checking off a Traditional Question from the list supplied by the management.

"I really could not voice an opinion," said Miss America smiling modestly, "as I do not know enough about members of the opposite (here she blushed prettily) s-dash-x."

There followed 17 more Traditional Questions with 17 more Traditional Answers when Rubin stepped in.

"As you know, Miss America," he began innocently enough, "the President has ordered the extermination of all citizens with blonde hair. How do you feel about that?"

"I feel that people who were voted into office must have the intelligence to know what to do," she replied, smiling modestly, "and that everybody should have faith in them."

"And he's declared World War III in order to wipe out the human race," continued Rubin.

"I am sure any war my country declares is a good war," said Miss America, smiling modestly.

"And he wants you to sell your body to the highest bidder in a fund-raising drive for the USO."

"If I am told to do something, I am told for a reason and I do not challenge it," said Miss America, smiling modestly.

"I think you're a real doll," said Rubin.

At this, Miss America shook her head so vigorously her left ear fell off. "I really could not voice an opinion," she said. "as I do not know enough . . . whirr . . . click."

The Master of Ceremonies swept up the cogs and wheels that littered the floor and made an impassioned plea for secrecy.

"If middle-aged Americans can't have faith that somewhere there's a living, breathing young person who is unquestionably loyal, invariably polite and devoutly reverent of us elders," he said, a sob in his throat, "what can they have faith in?"

All present swore secrecy except Rubin, whose body washed up under the Boardwalk a week later. Miss Idaho was uncrated, dusted off and wound up. "America is a perfect country," she said.

No one knew the difference and the Nation was saved for another year.

Poets of the Nation, Unite!

The seventh annual Kansas City (Mo.) Poetry Contests, offering a total of $1,600 in prizes and publication of a book-length manuscript, have been announced by Hallmark Cards.

One of four sponsors, Hallmark will again offer six $100 cash awards for single poems by full time undergraduate students in the United States. More than 2,000 students submitted entries in the 1969 competition.

In addition, the Devins Memorial ward offers $500 advance on royalties for a book-length poetry manuscript to be published by the University of Missouri Press, and the Kansas City Star offers four $100 prizes for single poems.

The deadline for submission of entries is February 1, 1970, and winners will be announced on April 30 at the closing reading of the 1969-70 American Poets' Series of the Kansas City Jewish Community Center.

All entries are judged anonymously. The author's name is enclosed in a sealed envelope attached to his entry. Complete contest rules may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Kansas City Poetry Contest, P.O. Box 8618, Kansas City, Mo. 64114.

Music Notes

The music department at George Fox College is a very active group. In addition to the A Capella Choir, a selected group of about 45, which is taking its annual tour to southern California in March, the concert band will be making a short weekend tour in February. These two groups also sing and play for various school functions and programs and maintain a high standard of quality in performance. For those interested in music, but who don't want to be involved for the whole year, the Oratorio Choir gives a special Christmas performance each year. Oratorio meets Fall term only, and this year will present Arthur Hon-egger's "King David" on December 7. Anyone may be in the Oratorio Choir. It will be accompanied by a college-community orchestra and directed by Dennis Hagen, chairman of the music department.

STUDENT SYMPHONY TICKETS AVAILABLE. The local campus representative of the Oregon Symphony Society's College Council, Helen Rinard, reports that season tickets for the Symphony's 1969-1970 five-concert series are still available at the reduced rate of only $5.

The Oregon Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Jacques Singer, has scheduled internationally known artists including pianist John Ogden; Gary Karr, Bassist; Aluiso Rocha, Harmonicist; Jacqueline DuPre, Cellist; and Pinchas Zukerman, Violinist.

Concerts will be held in Portland's new Civic Auditorium. Student seating will be in Section E on the main floor of the auditorium.

Series tickets can be obtained by calling Helen Rinard at 538-2523. The deadline is October 15, so hurry.

Music Department Accredited

State accreditation authorizing George Fox College to train high school teachers in music education has been approved by the Oregon State Board of Education.

The initial accreditation period will run through the spring of 1970 when the college will be reviewed by a visitation committee representing the state board.

George Fox President Dr. David Le Shana was notified August 25 of the college's approval. Confirmation was made by Joy Mills Gubser, associate superintendent.

The favorable action taken by the board at an Aug. 20 meeting in Medford allows 1969 George Fox graduates to teach on Oregon Restricted Teaching Certificates.

George Fox graduates will now be allowed to teach on the secondary level without attending graduate school or entering an intern teaching program.

Included in the approved program are music literature, music history, conducting, form analysis, applied music and theory, composition and key board.

The music department was reviewed in April after an earlier visit the year before at which time the committee approved the basic curriculum but said some changes were needed in the department's facilities. Changes have included the installation of carpeting, sound-proofing the practice rooms, the acquisition of three additional pianos, and library additions.

The music approval is the fourth departmental accreditation given for high school teaching. In 1968 the college was approved for biology, physical education and mathematics.

DR. DAVID C. Le SHANA addresses George Fox College freshmen at a special Sunday morning church service at Twin Rocks on the Oregon coast. The church service was part of a day-long program in which incoming students were bused to the beach, given a free afternoon for beach activities following the morning services, then were treated to a salmon bake and songfest before returning to Newberg.

Freed Speaks His Peace

October 24 is United Nations Day. Professor Berton Lamb, in conjunction with the Student Council, is bringing Mr. Jeffery Freed to speak.

Mr. Freed's topic will be "Peace in Asia: Problems and Prospects for International Organizations." More specifically he'll deal with the failures of the U.N. and the International Control Commission in Viet Nam.

Mr. Freed comes to George Fox with an impressive record.

He was formerly Director of the International Relations Center at San Francisco State College and lecturer in International Relations (1966-1969). His writings have appeared in many prominent magazines, including The Nation.

Mr. Freed has just returned from a two month research trip to Japan and Okinawa, and in 1968 he traveled to Japan, Korea, South Viet Nam, North Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand.

Auxiliary Adopts Program

A project to provide a new remedial reading center for the college has been adopted by the George Fox College Women's Auxiliary.

The $2,000 project was approved at the auxiliary's first meeting of the school year Friday, Sept. 26.

About 50 women attended the affair which included a faculty tea.

The coming year's project will provide an advising, counseling and testing service center in the newly remodeled third floor of Minthorn Hall.

Funds will be raised primarily through the organization's annual Christmas Dinner and Bazaar which last year raised nearly $1,500.

Heading the project committee are co-chairmen Mrs. Bess Bulgin and Mrs. Ruth Gilman.

George Fox President Dr. David Le Shana was guest speaker for the auxiliary's opening fall meeting. His topic followed the organization's topic for the year, "Looking Forward."

Dr. Le Shana said the college "has come to a new day." He cited the incoming freshman class as the highest ranking academically in the college's history. He also praised the development of a stronger faculty and new campus changes.

Le Shana cited the need for a four-pronged look forward, with a vision that is "clear, elevated, projected and perfected."

"I challenge you to look forward with me; the best is yet to come," he said.

Presiding over the meeting held in Pennington Hall lobby was auxiliary president Mrs. Frank Colcord. Helping with the tea were program committee members Mrs. Howard Pearson, Roba Rompel, Mrs. Helen Gandor and Mrs. David Lilly.

Drama Group Praised

"Excellent, refreshing, and uplifting" were some of the words used to describe the appearances of a George Fox College drama troupe, the New Friends Five, across the nation on a 67-day, 12 state tour. The members were Carolyn Leslie, a Dundee junior; Kathy Lalleme, Fresno, Calif. senior; Letah Childs, Kodiak, Alaska senior; Geoff Proehl, Vernonia sophomore; and Cliff Samuelson, a Portland Senior.

The Rev. Wendell Barnett, pastor of the First Friends Church in Topeka, Kansas, describes the troupe's drama and music presentation as "excellent drama with a message."

Greenleaf, Idaho minister, the Rev. Kenneth Pitts, calls the group's performance "excellent, refreshing and uplifting. The quality of dramatization was very good."

A Marshalltown, Iowa minister said the one hour performance "was so interesting, the people desired more."

"Very dignified, mannerly and polite" is the way the Rev. Paul W. Barnett, pastor of the Emporis (Kansas) Friends Church describes the students as representatives of the college. Rev. Barnett also added, "If this group tours this section again next summer, give us a chance to get into your schedule."

A program of music and drama offering a challenge and inspiration, and comedies with a point were featured in the troupe's repertoire. The tour was under the direction of the college's admissions department headed by Allen Hadley. He and his wife accompanied the students on the summer schedule.

Actor's Alley

By CLIFF SAMUELSON

Are you awake? Do you really think you are? Now try this one . . . Can you hear? Are you sure? Fine! How are you at sight, smell, taste, hearing, and touch? Responding well? Then for every action you should be ready to react to it. How did you react to the action of the last play (or movie) you saw? If you are contemplating whether you even had a reaction or not—be careful. The slightest "well that wasn't much" might be something after all. It might even be "I didn't really get it—but so what." Well what if you didn't get it . . . it was only a buck or two. But wait, maybe you did gain something, or lose something; or what could you have gained if you only knew what to look for in the play?

The object of this column is not to outline a step by step approach to understanding the theatre, but to offer aspects of a play that perhaps you had not been aware of before. This column will attempt to delve in subjects such as: What really is involved in the production of even the simplest play? Why are expenses forcing American theatres to dissolve? Lights can have the synonymous effect on moods that music has—the combination is "it".

What is drama's relationship to the church—yesterday, today, and tomorrow? Is the "tell it like it is" theme really telling it like it is in the theatre? And how does drama affect you every day, from the afternoon "soap box" serials to the early evening "Batman".

Don't be prepared for the all-conclusive answers to the above, but rather thoughts on these subjects. You can form your thoughts from those.

As for this article, let me encourage you to look forward to the Homecoming One-Act plays. Laughter is the prediction for this year's One-Act's. The Seniors and Sophomores combine efforts in a smile provoking (perhaps even hissing) melodrama called "Blazing Guns at Roaring Gulch" or "The Perfumed Badge" directed by Letah Childs. You need not fear, the first five rows will remain vacant in case of stray bullets. For fellow pacifists you may be assured that the bullets are merely chocolate drops—the kind that melt in your gun. And if you think that's corny wait till the harvest at Homecoming.

The Juniors and Freshmen join talents in presenting the true story of the "Final Dress Rehearsal" directed by Cliff Samuelson. This revelation of the final rehearsal is assured to encourage any potential talent to not try out for the next play. The revealing truths to "who forgot his line this time", and "quiet please, quiet please, Excedrin please" to "well we can't flub up the curtain call, can we?"

If you miss these revealing truths then you probably won't be missing the cost of admission. But then again, you might wish you had.

TEST DATES FOR NATIONAL TEACHER EXAMINATIONS ANNOUNCED PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY, September 15. College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: November 8, 1969, and January 31, April 4, and July 18, 1970. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general cultural background, and a Teaching Area Examination which measures mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

Hi, sports fans. If you're disappointed because very little is going on in the way of sports, look out. This is the year that George Fox is doing away with its usual sports tradition. I'm sure you are all aware of the fact that George Fox and Charlie Brown might as well be synonyms. This is true for only fifty per cent of the athletic teams—our girls lose about as many as our boys win. So much for the supposedly weaker sex.

We do have two teams in the bag for this fall. Coach Louthan is in charge of George Fox's newest sport—soccer. Coach Louthan has had several years experience coaching this fast, exciting sport at Friends Bible College in Haviland, Kansas, but he needs a dozen more fellows to build a really strong squad. Coach Louthan has planned several games with other schools, so come on guys, let's get out and help start a new tradition in sports here at Fox—winning. If soccer's not your bag, then get out and start jogging with the cross country team. I'm sure that Coach Lamb could use several more hustlers.

Now that Coach Berg and big Gordy Loewen have both made it through their rookie years here at Fox, I predict that basketball will be the first sport at Fox to defect from the ranks of Charlie Brown. Of course, this won't happen overnight or even "overseason," but the sooner we drop our negative "Born to Be Wiped" attitude and become the "Fighting Quakers," the sooner we'll start winning.

I'm looking forward to this year in sports. We may not win any conference championships, but this is the year we start climbing from the depressing gloom of our perpetual resting place—last place.

Wallace Highlights Christian Emphasis Week

Monday will begin our Spiritual Life Week. Wendell Wallace a new dynamic voice in evangelism will be sharing with us his unique style of gospel preaching.

Wallace is one of Americas most respected black evangelists. He is presently pastor of the Maranatha Evangelistic Center of Portland. This Center's services are attended by many black and white people of various denominations.

Vietnam and Sweden are two of the places outside the U.S. where Wallace has preached the gospel of Jesus Christ. The Maranatha Choir travels with him and presents their experience with Christ in song.

In addition to his church ministry, Wallace has a weekly radio broadcast and he also works on the Portland Model Cities Project.

Listen To This

The Oregon Dairy Products Commission did a good thing the other day. Since albums can't be played in the record stores before they're bought, and $3.98 or $4.98 is a lot to spend on something you haven't heard, quite a few people would like to hear the entire new album before buying it.

So the Everybody Needs Milk people decided to sponsor KINK's album previews for a month to advertise their product.

The good thing is that the Dairy people didn't want to interrupt the previews with commercials; KINK continued to play albums all the way through without interruption. Commercials at the beginning and end of the previews were strictly ad-lib.

Most Monday through Thursday nights at 10:00 p.m. KINK will be playing new albums all the way through, both sides, uninterrupted. We'd appreciate it if you would pass the word around.

Is America A Classless Society?

THE STATUS SEEKERS
NOI says best-selling author Vance Packard in this scorching investigation of the status and class structure of our society.

The car you drive, the church you attend, where you went to school, the house you live in—even your choice of words—are brandings of your place in society. This is your

The Rafts Are Coming

"First Annual Willamette River Raft Race and Barbeque" tomorrow will launch Action '69, social program for the year sponsored by the Activities Council.

GFC students competing in the race will sail tomorrow at 3 p.m. from Newberg's paper dock to Champoeg Park, where the barbeque will be held.

Students not riding a raft may meet in Pennington at 5 p.m. for a hayride or at 5:45 for a bus ride to Champoeg. No evening meal will be served on campus.

Contestants must register and pay entry fees by this afternoon. A list of rules and further information is available in the Activities office or from Gene Tish, Activities Director.

Sports Shorts

The women's sports teams are looking forward to another exciting and successful year. We compete inter-scholastically in field hockey, volleyball, basketball, tennis, and softball. In addition to this we compete in various sports days in swimming, bowling, archery, badminton, golf, and track and field. There is opportunity for all who are interested to participate as well as support our teams.

The hockey team, coached by Marge Weesner, is in full swing. Their schedule is as follows:
October 9 at O.C.E. 4:00 p.m.
October 15 at Marylhurst 4:20 p.m.
October 22 with Linfield at home 4:00 p.m.
October 29 at Pacific 3:30 p.m.
November 21, 22, 23 Tournament at U. of Victoria, B.C.
